Arkansas City wrestling rolling after a Derby Invitational title

By MIKE MENDEZ CatchItKansas.com 10:37 p.m. CST, January 5, 2013
 DERBY, Kan.—

For the Arkansas City Bulldogs, the momentum of a state championship has carried over to this season. With 185.5 points and a team win in the Derby Invitational, one of the toughest tournaments around, coach Greg Buckbee has to feel good about how his team is wrestling. And although the team took a state title last season, there has been no letdown. In fact, it has served as a motivator with some unfinished business left on the mat last February.

“It was bittersweet,” said Ark City senior Cody Eastman of the lack of an individual state title last year. “We all wanted those individual ones but we all came up short, at least three guys did, including me. And I know that is what we are striving for now, including the team one.”

Eastman was the lone Bulldog to win an individual title in Derby, but a strong lineup throughout all the weights gave Ark City a 15.5-point lead over second place Garden City to win the tournament.
